

Bridgett White, AICP, has been Interim Director with the City of San Antonio's Department of Planning and Community Development since April 2016. Prior to this position, she was the Assistant Director upon joining the City in July 2015. Before moving to San Antonio, she was with the City of Arlington, Texas for 13 years where she began her career there as a Planner in the Department of Community Development and Planning and was promoted over the years to the position of Interim Director.

Bridgett earned a Master of Urban Planning from the University of Michigan and a Bachelor of Arts in Architecture from Washington University in St. Louis.

Bridgett is married to Mark White and they have two children, Jonathan and Madison. In her free time, she enjoys spending time with family and reading.